

RENESSA BOLEY

MEDIA BIO

There's one thing that does brilliantly, and that is provide you with success strategies to launch into the life you love faster than you ever thought possible! Renessa's core belief is that there are no gold medals in life for suffering unnecessarily – whether that's sticking with a job you hate, being a relationship that sucks or living with a body that's less than luscious. There is also no glory in taking longer than you need to get where you want to go. Anyone who has ever invested in her home study courses, attended one of her seminars or watched her on television knows that she coaches people with one thought in mind. "What is the fastest way to DONE?" – whatever your goal may be.

Renessa brings 15 years of corporate and entrepreneurial experience to her coaching practice as a management consultant, strategic partner developer, and investor for companies such as Mercer Management Consulting and Corporate Executive Board. She has managed revenues in excess of $31 million for clients such as PepsiCo, Dell, Colgate-Palmolive and Best Buy and knows the skills required to advance in a corporate environment. More importantly, what she brings to corporate, university and individual clients is a keen understanding of what it takes to a live a life of MAGIC! and thrive beyond the money.

Some of her most popular presentation topics include:

- How to Be a Promotion Magnet in a Lay-off World
- Fast Lane - Wrong Direction: Chasing Success to a Dead-End Road
- Passion Speaks Louder Than Logic
- Is Your Big BUT in the Way of Your Dreams?

Leveraging an engineering degree from Stanford University, Renessa is brilliant at getting clients clear about what they want, clear about what's in the way and clear about how to get it done FAST!

She has been featured as a regular guest expert on FOX, ABC, CBS, Career Builder and other media outlets across the country. When you're finally ready to do it, Renessa is the fastest way to DONE!
